On behalf of Retailers Against Crime,
welcome to our conference.

On behalf of Retailers Against Crime (RAC) I would like to welcome you all to our conference.

Iceland has been sharing data in partnership with RAC since 2011, and during that time we've seen first-hand the team's enthusiasm for collaboration, identifying offenders, working closely with law enforcement agencies, and helping to bring offenders to justice.

What continues to inspire me is not just their professionalism, but their passion and integrity. The educational workshops they deliver, particularly those focused on helping younger generations, motivate me to support them both professionally and personally to the best of my ability.

Of the thousands of incidents reported to RAC, the team identifies hundreds of suspects every month. This outstanding work reduces the opportunity for crime in retail stores, helping to protect both staff and customers from physical violence and verbal abuse.

What sets RAC apart is their ground-up approach, working directly with security officers and shop-floor staff to maximise protection and support. In my view, this approach is unique in our industry and has a truly positive impact on safeguarding our front-line colleagues and reducing loss.

I encourage any retailers who are not yet members to come and speak with Maxine and the team. RAC can tailor a proposition that demonstrates clear return on investment.

Membership benefits include instant access to daily intelligence, crime prevention advice and training, as well as crime mapping, risk profiling, and regular monthly updates all supported by strong collaboration with Police.

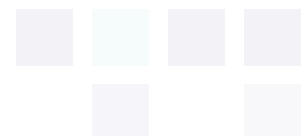

A huge thank you to our headline sponsor ASEL, to our exhibitors, and to our associate members for their ongoing support throughout the year and especially today.

Finally, thank you to all our speakers, and to each of you for taking the time to attend this important event.

Enjoy the conference!

DUNCAN MILES

Head of Security | Iceland Foods LTD.
Chairman | Retailers Against Crime

SPEAKERS

In May 2025, she was delighted to be appointed lead for Police Scotland's new Retail Crime Taskforce. Working alongside her fantastic team, she is committed to making a visible and measurable impact on retail crime in Scotland.

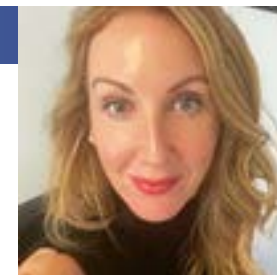

EMMA WRIGHT Inspector Police Scotland

Emma brings 24 years of policing experience, having served with West Mercia Police before joining Police Scotland in March 2023. She has worked in a broad range of uniformed and detective roles and her appointment to the Retail Crime Taskforce presents a new and rewarding challenge. She values working collaboratively with retailers and stakeholders to drive meaningful change across Scotland. The taskforce is already demonstrating what can be achieved with funding and strong collaboration, delivering positive results in enforcement and prevention.

STEPHANIE KARTÉ CEO Retailers Against Crime

Having recently stepped into the role of CEO, Stephanie has been with Retailers Against Crime since 2011 and continues to drive its work supporting retailers nationwide. With extensive expertise in retail crime prevention and organised offending, she is passionate and committed, working to build strong partnerships with retailers, Police and community organisations. She is dedicated to changing perceptions of retail crime by highlighting its significant economic impact. Caring deeply about the daily challenges faced by members and retailers, Stephanie strives to improve safety and outcomes for communities. A strong advocate for the Educating Youth Programme, she inspires young people to make positive choices while promoting awareness, integrity and resilience.

CHRIS NRIPIA Co-Founder and Director SentrySIS

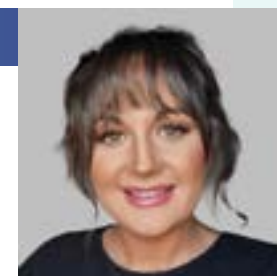

Chris Nriapia is the Co-Founder and Director of SentrySIS, a pioneering UK crime intelligence platform driving digital transformation in crime management. He leads the company's business development with Police forces, business crime partnerships and national retailers, delivering innovative cloud-based tools such as 'direct-to-police' reporting, DEMS and digital MG11 witness statements. These solutions have streamlined processes, enhanced intelligence sharing, and improved operational efficiency.

Chris holds a Master's in Screen Media Culture and a Bachelor's in Public Relations from Leeds Business School. His career spans digital marketing, software solutions and strategic partnerships with the BBC, the London 2012 Olympics and leading creative agencies.

FIONA RIMMER Incident Prevention Manager Tesco

Fiona is an Incident Prevention Manager with over 18 years of retail management experience, specialising in retail crime prevention and risk management. She supports stores across all formats from Express to Extra across Scotland to ensure safe, secure and compliant operations. She works closely with Police Scotland, local councils, Business Improvement Districts (BIDs) and other partner agencies to tackle retail crime and anti-social behaviour. She is passionate about reducing incidents, protecting colleagues and customers and driving a strong culture of safety across the business.

SPEAKERS

BRENDAN MUSGROVE

Chief Operating Officer
ASEL

Brendan Musgrove is a senior security leader with extensive experience in retail and commercial guarding operations. Currently serving as Chief Operating Officer for ASEL, he has also held leadership roles in several other large-scale security providers, giving a deep and well-rounded knowledge of the sector.

Passionate about keeping the end customer safe and reducing losses, Brendan drives high performing teams through training, development and empowerment with a current focus on reducing anti-social behaviour.

In addition to his employment, Brendan is also a board member of Retailers Against Crime where he helps shape strategy, particularly in respect of commercial aspects.

ROSIE BARRON

Retailers Against Crime (RAC) is a not-for-profit retail crime partnership committed to detecting and preventing crime including acts of violence through the secure sharing of information with our members and partners.

At the heart of our work is a genuine commitment to protecting people. We care about creating safer environments for retail staff, customers and wider community.

Our core mission is to:

- Reduce opportunities for crime and anti-social behaviour to occur.
- Forewarn staff of potential incidents involving physical or verbal abuse, supporting their personal safety and wellbeing.
- Decrease crime levels to protect retail workers and the public.
- Prevent losses through effective information sharing and crime awareness training.

We believe that strong partnerships are essential to achieving safer communities. We work closely with Police forces across the UK, sharing relevant intelligence and representing our members on national and regional forums. This collaborative approach ensures consistent communication, a shared understanding of emerging threats and the exchange of best practice across the industry.

RAC is at the forefront of identifying and providing intelligence on recidivist offenders and organised crime groups, many of whom are involved in wider criminal activity. Our specialised team analyse all reported incidents to identify patterns, associates and targeted areas, enabling us to alert members quickly and support efforts to detect, disrupt and prevent crime.

Alongside this, we are committed to supporting safer futures. Through our community workshops and educational programmes, we help young people understand the consequences of crime while promoting positive choices and personal development.

At RAC, we care. We listen. We work in partnership to keep retail environments safe – today and for the future.
